Short version, about 15 seconds

Your usual ad marker. You can wake up to this show every morning. Alarmcast is an Android alarm clock built on reliability. It wakes you with a podcast instead of a ringtone, and it has all the features and simplicity of a modern alarm app. Our listeners get a free year of Alarmcast Premium with the code your code, for the first how many of you, until last day. It's all at Alarmcast dot app (alarmcast.app).

Long version, about 30 seconds

Your usual ad marker. You can wake up to this show every morning. Alarmcast is an Android alarm clock built on reliability. It wakes you with a podcast instead of a ringtone, and it has all the features and simplicity of a modern alarm app. Your own line, if you've tried it. Set it to play our newest episode, or carry on where you left off. And if the podcast can't play, it rings like a normal alarm instead. It's a full podcast player too, so you can keep listening after the alarm stops. There's even a gentle birdsong pre-alarm. Our listeners get a free year of Alarmcast Premium with the code your code, for the first how many of you, until last day. It's all at Alarmcast dot app (alarmcast.app).

Please always say

- That it's an ad, the way your show usually says so
- Alarmcast, and that it's for Android
- Alarmcast dot app (alarmcast.app)
- With the code: how many it's for and its last day

Your listener code

It's in Tessa's email. Each listener who uses it gets a free year of Alarmcast Premium. In the app: Settings, then Enter a code (capitals and spaces don't matter). Details at alarmcast.app/gift.

Once it's out

Send the episode link to Tessa at tessa@alarmcast.app, who can also answer any questions. Your show goes into Featured, at the top of Alarmcast's Discover screen, with the next app update, for six weeks (or as your offer says). Each new mention starts that time again.
